

Contents

1 General patient transfer techniques, 1

- General rules of patient transfer, 1
- Basic body mechanics, 1
- Bedside body mechanics, 2
- Use of a transfer belt, 11

2 Transfer of the patient with loss or injury of one lower extremity, 17

- Special considerations for hemiplegic patients, 17
- Transfer from stretcher to bed (two assistants), 19
- Dangling at the side of the bed (one assistant), 21
- Transfer from bed to chair, wheelchair, or commode (one assistant), 26
 - The maneuver, 27
- Transfer from wheelchair to bed (one assistant), 33
- Transfer from bed to wheelchair (three assistants), 42
- Transfer from wheelchair to bed (three assistants), 46
- Special considerations for patients with total hip replacement, 49
- Transfer from bed to ambulation for patients with total hip replacement (two assistants), 52

3 Transfer of the patient with an acute spinal injury, 65

- Transfer from spinal board to bed, 65
- Rolling the patient with acute spinal injury to her side, 68
- Using patient turning frames, 70
 - Stryker wedge turning frame, 71
 - Stryker CircOlectric bed, 88

4 Transfer of the patient with loss or injury of both lower extremities, 112

- Transfer from stretcher to bed (three assistants), 112
- Transfer from bed to wheelchair (two assistants), 116
- Transfer from wheelchair to bed (two assistants), 122

5 Transfer of the patient with generalized weakness, 125

Transfer from stretcher to bed (two assistants), 125

Moving the patient up in bed (two assistants), 131

Dangling at the side of the bed (one assistant), 134

Transfer from bed to chair (one assistant), 138

Transfer from chair to bed (one assistant), 142

Techniques for safe ambulation (one assistant), 147

6 Transfer of the obese patient, 150

Transfer from stretcher to bed (four assistants), 151

Turning the patient in bed (three assistants), 154

Moving the patient up in bed (four assistants), 155

Transfer from bed to chair using Hoyer lift (three assistants), 157

Transfer from chair to bed using Hoyer lift (three assistants), 164

Placing a bedpan under the patient (three assistants), 168

7 Transfer of the unconscious patient, 170

Transfer from stretcher to bed (three assistants), 170

Moving the patient up in bed (two assistants), 174

Rolling the patient to her side (one assistant), 176

Glossary, 179